

As a Wisconsin resident, I am pleased with the current law, which allows only one call to former customers. Telemarketing calls are extremely disruptive and frustrating. The No Call Lists that have been put in place have made life at home sort of a return to the past, before telemarketing began. It's a welcome change. Thank you for your consideration.